1. Make a schedule/time table

Students must begin early with the preparations for the board examinations. They must chalk out a full schedule and follow it religiously. All the important topics should be revised after every few days.

2. Revise the formulae

One of the most important things in exams is the formulae which we have in subjects like Mathematics, Science, etc. Students should make sure that they learn all the formulae by heart and revise them each day as to not forget them while attempting any question. Make a formulae sheet and make sure to revise it daily before going to sleep every day.

3. Take breaks in between

Students must make sure to take breaks in between studying for a fresher approach and frame of mind.

4. Practise previous years' question papers/ sample papers

Attempting previous years' question papers/ CBSE sample papers give the student an insight into the type of questions asked as well as the marking scheme. The CBSE 10th previous years' question papers make students familiar with the detailed CBSE exam pattern.
