Dear aspirant, Glad to meet you. M.Sc. In Medical Radio Imaging is a full time two-year post-graduate programme designed to get individuals familiarized with the principle of operations of complex radio imaging equipment and how to operate them. However, some institutes do offer part time distance learning programs for it for working professionals. Eligibility for this course varies from institute to institute but generally any B.Sc. Graduates are eligible to apply for this course. Some institutes only allow B.Sc. Graduates in nursing, in Radio Imaging or any other specialisation in the medical field for enrollment. M.Sc. Medical Radio Imaging Admissions are usually done based on the candidates performance in entrance exams like NEET MET etc. Followed by personal interviews. Some of the top colleges offering M.Sc. MRI courses are AIIMS New Delhi, PGIMER Chandigarh, JIPMER, Puducherry. The fee structure also varies from institute to institute, with Government colleges charging INR 1,00,000 -1,50,000 for the completion and private colleges charging INR 3,00,000-4,00,000 for it

Hi,

BA Psychology has the eligibility of pass with 60% aggregate marks in 10+2 (with English) or equivalent.

You can move ahead with the admission procedure. The college plays a big role in the growth of your career. The enterprising college would boost your career to a great extent and propel you for a research field and also to shape your career successfully.

If you fulfill the eligibility as mentioned above, the best is to browse the college site to check the academics and the benefits offered by the college. Lady Sri Ram College too is good. You can also check LPU which offers good scholarships including the Covid scholarships besides good research facilities. Similarly check whether all such things are available with the college of your choice.
