Hi,

It is sometimes possible to move straight from one university to another, usually in the first few weeks of your first year, or between years if the courses are similar enough. If you've decided this is the right thing for you, these are the steps you need to take (although things might work differently depending on your university.)

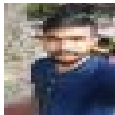

Contact the university you want to move to. You need to find out whether they will accept you onto the course. You will need to have your exam results and other information on hand. If you want to transfer during a year, you'll need to get a confirmation from the new university to show to your current university. If you want to transfer between years, you should apply to the new university using UCAS, using the option on the form to select which year of the course you want to start on. Take your offer of a place and talk to your tutor or head of the department to arrange when you will be leaving.

Hi,

If Saurashtra University does not require a CMAT score, then it is fine, but if it does you need to produce a scorecard in front of them. If you're in your final year and it gets over before the month of June, then it's fine.

All the best.

Does this university provides external studies and gives admission without entrance test for MBA?

Admissions are conducted in the university on merit basis (marks obtained in graduation).

Candidates can apply online or offline with required information. I don't think the college provides any external studies, but you can still confirm the same by clicking the link below and ask the college officials.
