2. Smt. Shah Laxmiben Karamshi Bhujpurwala Charitable Trust, belonging to the Kutchhi Community and as per their wish; the Engineering College is named as Shah & Anchor Kutchhi Engineering College. The funds for the development of the Engineering College are augmented from time to time by donations received by the Trust from philanthropic businessmen and industrialists.

Before starting the Engineering College, the Mahavir Education Trust had established Shah & Anchor Kutchhi Polytechnic at Chembur. The Polytechnic was inaugurated on August 27, 1983 by Late Shri Vasantdada Patil, the then Honorable Chief Minister, Maharashtra State. The Polytechnic is recognized by the Directorate of Technical Education, M.S. It conducts courses leading to the Diploma in Electronics Engineering, Computer Technology, Electronics and Telecommunication and Information Technology awarded by the Board of Technical Education, M.S. The Polytechnic is also awarded accreditation by National Board of Accreditation for its three courses viz.

- (1) Electronics and Telecommunication
- (2) Computer Technology.
- (3) Information Technology

The Engineering College and the Polytechnic both have been granted the status of minority institutions by the Government of Maharashtra since the academic year 2002-2003.
