REASON TO STUDY AT LLOYD | PATRONAGE

PADMASHREE PROFESSOR (Dr.) N. R. MADHAVA MENON

INVITATION TO STUDY LAW

India is on the threshold of a Development Revolution. Higher education including legal education will determine the quality and direction of the Development Process. With millions of talented youth with higher education entering the job market, nothing can stop the Nation from achieving its development goals sooner than later. As a country committed to rule of law, democracy and human rights, it is the function of legal institutions to organize development in such a manner that the Constitution prescribes. In this process, legal personnel have a significant role to play outside the conventional role of dispute settlement.

Law study, therefore, is not merely a private good but also a public good in which the society has special interest to sustain. There is no other subject so close to life in all its aspects as the subject of law. For the same reason, study of law is a life-long process for which university education is just the beginning.

It is common experience of many of us in the teaching profession that when students join the law school, they are determined to work for justice to weaker sections and wanting to change systems that perpetuate inequality and exploitation in society. It is also our experience that once they complete studies and leave the law school, they tend to lose their idealism and join forces which maintain the same old social order. Of course, there is lot of money one can make in a legal career and there is nothing wrong in advocating the cause of the rich who can pay enough money for legal services. But if such action results in non-availability or non-affordability of quality legal services to the poor and the marginalized, there is serious risk of the profession getting alienated from the people and justice getting derailed in the process. This is suicidal for the profession as well as for the country and its constitutional values.

A recent report submitted by the Law Commission has recommended several changes to the Advocates Act towards restructuring the organization and management of the legal profession in India with a view to maintain the nobility and public interest goals of the profession. Furthermore, the profession is today diversified into litigation bar, corporate and in-house lawyers, mediators, arbitrators and trans-national legal practitioners. In emerging areas of legal practice, lawyers are compelled to partner with professionals outside law to provide appropriate services to the clients. With trade in legal services becoming a reality under the WTO, lawyers have to prepare themselves for trans-national legal practice as well which will change the character of the profession as we see it today. In short, those who are entering the practice of law in future may have to adopt new ways of thinking in respect of delivery of services and management of profession.

Study of law prepares one not only to become a legal practitioner. It enables one to take a variety of career options including judiciary, journalism, civil service, politics, teaching and social work. In all these careers, what makes law study relevant is its relation to 'JUSTICE', the eternal quest of every human being. You are welcome to study law and be a justice worker for maximizing justice and fairness in society.

In Lloyd College of Law, you will find plenty of opportunities not just to earn a law degree, but to learn many things about law from outside the classroom and the library. Learning law through experience gives you insights on how law functions in society. Look out for occasions for experiential learning even if you have to forego your vacations to avail of such experiences. Improve your communication skills and your knowledge of contemporary events. A great career full of intellectual challenges awaits you. Remember the adage that "Law is a jealous mistress" and there is no room in it for the lazy and the mediocre.

Prof. (Dr.) N.R. Madhava Menon
