About This List

Want to know which colleges and institutes in India accept NEET scores for admission to MBBS courses? The answer is all of them — however, only a limited number offer admission through All India Quota (AIQ) counselling. All AIIMS institutes, JIPMER Puducherry, and other central universities consider NEET scores, and almost every government medical college in every state admits students through NEET-based counselling conducted by state authorities and the Medical Counselling Committee (MCC).

With the implementation of the NMC Act and the scrapping of both the AIIMS and JIPMER entrance exams, NEET has emerged as the single entrance examination for admission to MBBS degree courses across India. The state counselling authorities conduct the process for 85% State Quota seats in each state/UT. As per the latest data, there are 1,18,148 MBBS seats in India for admission to the 2025–26 academic year, with private and deemed-to-be universities also admitting thousands of students based on NEET scores.

Some of India's most sought-after NEET colleges include Maulana Azad Medical College (Delhi), Grant Medical College (Mumbai), Madras Medical College (Chennai), and King George's Medical University (Lucknow).
